

Mark Gasparotto

Delivering excellent content to TEC groups since 2018

Mark will be joining us to share his presentation titled:

Inner Game: Leadership-of-Self

Gasparotto takes TEC members on a journey to explore their own definition of leadership, views on different leadership approaches, and the state of their inner game. TEC members will visualize where they are on the "Lead-o-Meter" and what aspects of their leadership-of-self should be further developed to cross the pivotal defensive-creative leadership threshold. Using a variety of interactive techniques, this multi-faceted presentation / workshop demonstrates how consciously developing one's inner game will increase a leader's overall personal effectiveness, contribute to strengthened teams, and drive increased business performance outcomes.

About Mark

MARK GASPAROTTO MSM, CD, MA, P. Eng Mark is the President of The Gasparotto Group, a boutique consultancy that provides clients with pragmatic leadership solutions. Mark leverages his strategic and tactical leadership approach to help private and public-sector organizations increase their members' leadership and resilience, strengthen their teams, enhance their organizational culture, and elevate their successes. An accomplished speaker, Mark combines rich personal experience with applicable theories and current trends to deliver practical, achievable outcomes, whatever the leadership challenge.