"To me, leadership is understanding who you are, knowing how you show up and being aware of the impact that you make. If you understand this, you can lead from strength and surround yourself with those that fulfill and complement your growing edges."

Hello!

I am recognized as a seasoned Executive Coach with highly developed curiosity to help uncover and address the core issues. My life's mission revolves around "Helping eradicate Entrepreneurial Poverty". I often say, "leaders get the behaviours they exhibit and tolerate", and my focus lies in aiding them in navigating the evolving dynamics of people, systems, and processes. Balancing the intricate connection between leadership, vision, execution, and strategy, while aligning with stakeholders, is a unique skillset that I believe in.

With a background as a serial entrepreneur in various industries, I have lived through the challenges of leadership. I am currently the President of Keels in Motion, a consulting firm dedicated to guiding individuals, businesses, and government entities through business and technology.

As a TEC Master Chair with CEO, Small Business, and KEY groups, I bring deep commitment to helping those under my guidance. My approach combines coaching and mentoring, aiming to identify and address the root challenges my clients are facing, whether in skillset or mindset. I am committed to ensuring that every member has what the necessary resources to grow and develop as a leader on both personal and professional levels.

On a personal note, I live in Toronto with my wife, who we share two children with. I am a competitive sailor and squash player outside of my professional pursuits.

My TEC Group Vision

It's my commitment to make sure you have what you need to grow and develop as a leader on every level – personally and professionally.
