“Today’s CEO functions at a faster pace than ever before, and it is vital they remain open to learning, adapting and growing”

TEC CEO Chair, TEC KEY Executive Chair
Montreal, QC

Hello!

My career began in operations and quality management, and I quickly advanced into senior Vice President and Site Director roles. Over 30 years, I have led large-scale operational transformations by aligning corporate objectives, clearly communicating vision, and executing disciplined plans that deliver measurable results.

I hold a Master’s in Biomedical Engineering from McMaster University and a degree in Chemical Engineering from Queen’s University. I also hold an Institute of Corporate Directors designation and have been recognized as a Fellow of the Canadian Academy of Engineering, grounding my leadership in both operational excellence and governance discipline.

As a TEC Chair, I bring structure, clarity, and rigor to the room. With over 10 years of experience and having earned Chair Excellence and Master Chair designations, along with the Red Shoe Award, my groups experience structured problem-solving, diverse expert speakers, and true peer accountability — the kind that drives real execution, not just conversation.

Outside of work, I live in Quebec with my husband and three children. I’ve been honoured as one of the Top 100 Businesswomen in Quebec by Entrepreneur Magazine, recognized by the West Island Chamber of Commerce for Manufacturing, and awarded the Order of Honour from the Professional Engineers of Ontario.

My TEC Group Vision

My group is focused on increasing the effectiveness of and enhancing the lives of its members and their businesses, grounded in disciplined execution, accountability, and operational excellence. Together, members will challenge one another to achieve measurable outcomes while contributing to the growth and impact of Quebec’s business community.
